

Tri-Institutional MD-PhD Program

News and Announcements

Spring 2023

Greetings from Tri-I MD-PhD Director, Kathy Hsu!

Approaching her second full year in the Director's chair, Dr. Hsu shares her thoughts on the year we are finishing and the ones to come.

Congratulations Tri-I MD-PhD Graduating Class of 2023 on Another Successful Match Day!

On March 17, all 14 of the Tri-I 2023 graduates who entered the Residency Match matched at their top choices in specialties ranging from pediatrics to pathology at some of the nation's leading programs. Two of 2023 grads will pursue careers outside of the traditional residency path. Congrats to all!

The 2023 Admissions Cycle Enters Its Final Stage

After three Zoom Interview Days and a (Re-)Visit Day on campus, the 2023 admissions cycle is nearing its completion. Our admitted students had a very busy few days visiting with our students, faculty, alumni and leadership. There were outings and dinners and lots of great conversation. We are excited to finalize the incoming class of 2023 and welcome them in July at our annual BBQ!

Happy 50th To Us!

The winter MD-PhD Holiday Party was occasion to celebrate the end of one calendar year, the beginning of the next, and 50 years of MD-PhD on the Tri-I campus (we weren't tri-institutional for all 50, but still...). We celebrated together at Griffis Faculty Club and capped it off with a cake.

Students Gather Upstate for Fall Mini-Retreat

Last fall, students ventured upstate for a mini-Retreat in the lower Hudson Valley. Hikes were hiked, boats were boated, and everyone enjoyed a brief respite from city life for the day in favor of the brisk breezes and grand views of New York State.

On The Tri-I Horizon...

Olaf's long career at WCM will be celebrated with an afternoon of talks and an evening reception on June 23.
